ABOUT US

The International Centre for the Prevention of Crime (ICPC) is an international non-governmental organization based in Montréal. It was established in 1994 by the governments of France, Canada, and Quebec. Its mission is to promote the adoption of international standards focused on crime prevention and criminal justice, with the goal of enhancing daily safety and improving the quality of life in communities, cities, and other local jurisdictions.

The ICPC supports the development and implementation of practical and effective policies, programs, and projects aimed at reducing crime and delinquency. It is also committed to developing innovative solutions to address the complex challenges posed by crime and violence, with a strong emphasis on research, capacity building, and knowledge transfer.

Working alongside member states, international and regional organizations, and authorities at all levels of government, the ICPC collaborates closely with the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) and the United Nations Human Settlements Programme (UN-Habitat). It maintains an active presence across the Americas, Europe, Africa, and Oceania. The Centre offers a broad range of technical and conceptual knowledge on crime prevention as well as related policies, practices, and tools to address the risk factors associated with crime, violence, and insecurity.

A WORD FROM THE DIRECTOR GENERAL

ANN CHAMPOUX

Dear Members, Partners, and Friends of the ICPC,

The year 2024 marked a significant milestone for the International Centre for the Prevention of Crime (ICPC) as we celebrated three decades of commitment to advancing safety and crime prevention across the globe.

To commemorate our 30th anniversary, we hosted a special webinar that brought together experts, partners, and members of our network to reflect on today's challenges and future perspectives in the field of prevention.

On May 30, I had the honour of meeting the Honourable Dominic LeBlanc, Canada's Minister of Public Safety, along with Mr. Shawn Tupper, Deputy Minister of Public Safety Canada. This strategic meeting was an opportunity to discuss the ICPC's mission, current crime-related challenges, and the country's prevention needs. It also underscored the importance of collaboration between institutional, community, nonprofit, and private sectors to address crime and insecurity in Canada.

We are also proud to announce that, by the end of the year, the ICPC received confirmation of a federal grant under Public Safety Canada's Mobility Safety Program.

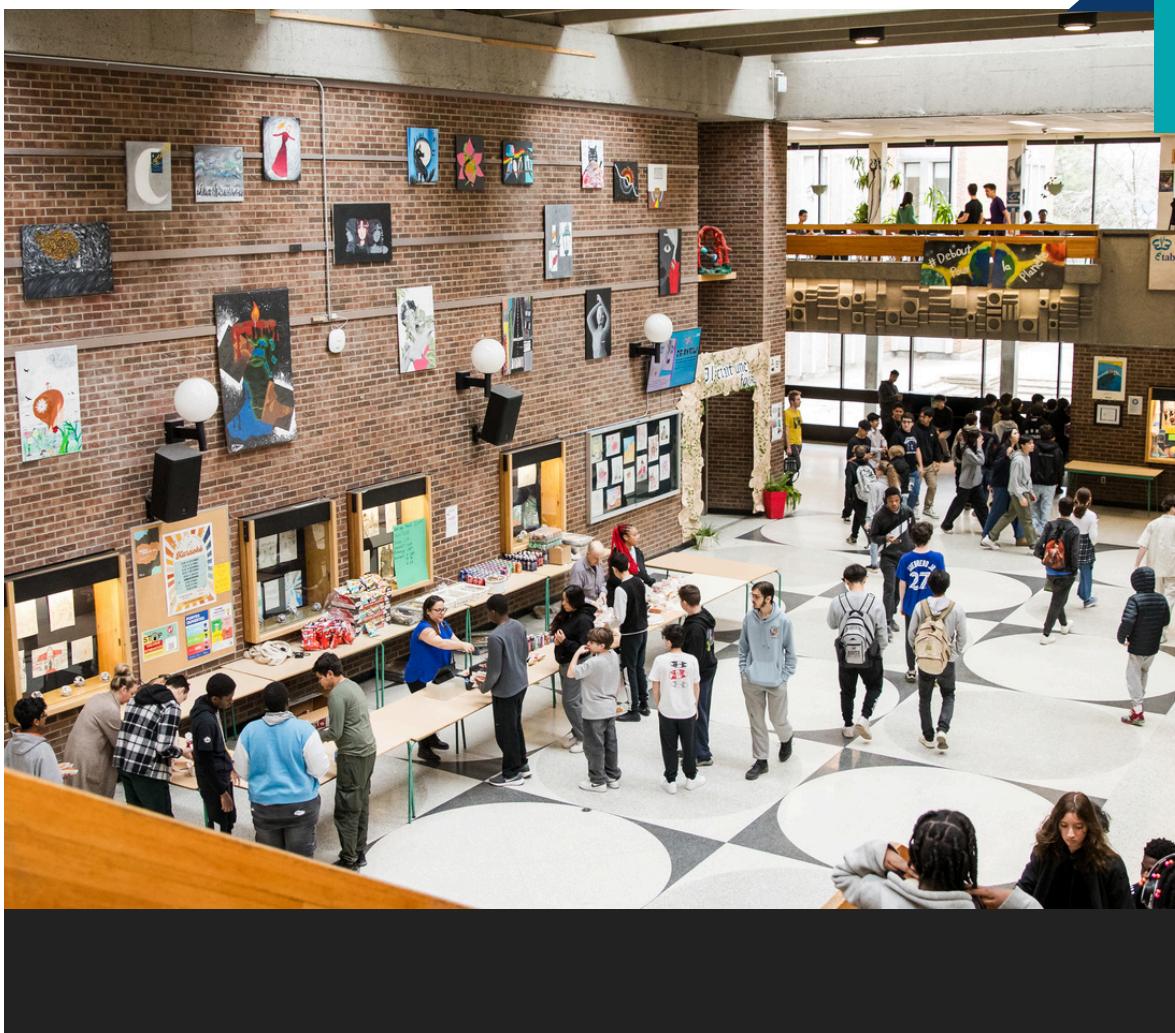

This invaluable support will enable us to strengthen our initiatives aimed at improving travel safety and preventing crime related to mobility.

Throughout the year, our team worked diligently to implement various projects, deliver trainings, and build partnerships—both locally and internationally. This 2024 Annual Report offers a comprehensive overview of our activities, achievements, and collaborations that defined this exceptional year.

While we take pride in these three decades of progress, we remain firmly focused on the future, determined to pursue our mission with the same passion and dedication. We extend our deepest gratitude to everyone who has contributed to our success and who shares our vision for a safer, more just world.

Respectfully yours,

KNOWLEDGE CENTRE

Every year, the ICPC produces and distributes a series of publications aimed at supporting government, institutional and community actors in their efforts to prevent crime and violence.

In 2024, the ICPC produced two thematic reports.

FEBRUARY 2024 - QUALITATIVE DATA COLLECTION PLAN: UPDATING GANG RECRUITMENT STRATEGIES TARGETING YOUTH

This report highlights the factors contributing to the recruitment of young people into criminal activities, such as the influence of social networks, bad company, the quest for recognition, poverty and lack of opportunities.

The aim of this report is to provide essential information for understanding this phenomenon and proposing recommendations for improving safety in Laval, a Quebec city where crime, particularly gun-related crime, increased significantly in 2021.

The report is available on our website.

APRIL 2024 - LOCAL SAFETY DIAGNOSIS FOR THE AGGLOMERATION OF LONGUEUIL

The aim of this report is to paint a picture of safety among young people in the Longueuil agglomeration and to encourage community participation in safety issues.

The report also provides a qualitative analysis that was carried out in collaboration with local stakeholders, using consultative activities with young people in the agglomeration. Finally, the study proposes concrete recommendations and solutions, appropriate and adapted to local realities, to strengthen and create safer public spaces.

EXCHANGE AND EXPERTISE HUB

Drawing on its global network of partners and multidisciplinary expertise, the ICPC plays a central role in creating opportunities for exchange, developing locally adapted solutions, and promoting best practices.

DECEMBER 5, 2024: WEBINAR TO MARK THE END OF THE MUNICIPAL SUPPORT PROGRAMME

As part of the conclusion of the Programme de soutien aux municipalités (municipal support program), an innovative partnership initiated in 2019 by the Quebec Ministry of Public Security (MSP), a webinar was organized with all participating municipalities as well as community and institutional partners.

This ongoing commitment demonstrates our determination to strengthen safety in Quebec communities through a preventive and collaborative approach. Their engagement was essential in making the program a success and showing that public safety is a shared responsibility.

Since 2020, the ICPC has been contributing to the Municipal Support Programme (PSM), initiated by Quebec's Ministry of Public Security. This programme has enabled several municipalities with fewer than 10,000 inhabitants to develop local security assessments and structured preventive action plans, thereby strengthening their local capacity to respond to crime prevention issues. It culminated in the presentation of a final report in December 2024.

ICPC GOVERNANCE

The ICPC Board of Directors plays a crucial role in the strategic direction and smooth operation of the organization. Composed of professionals from diverse geographical and sectoral backgrounds, the Board embodies the diversity and expertise necessary to address global challenges in crime prevention.

In 2024, we had the honor of welcoming three new members:

- Barbara Holtmann, whose expertise in governance and community security enriches strategic discussions.
- Anna Rau, Director of the German European Forum on Urban Security, bringing valuable international perspective through her experience in Europe.
- Didier Deramond, Executive Director of the Association of Police Chiefs of Quebec, whose deep knowledge of the Quebec policing environment is an undeniable asset.

ICPC GOVERNANCE MEETINGS

In 2024, the ICPC Board of Directors held several strategic meetings to ensure rigorous governance and guide the organization's directions. These meetings helped reinforce priority areas, assess ongoing project results, and define perspectives for future initiatives. ICPC warmly thanks the Board members for their commitment and valuable contribution to the mission of crime prevention.

The meetings were held on the following dates:

- March 7, 2024
- June 13, 2024
- September 12, 2024
- December 12, 2024

EVOLUTION OF THE GENERAL BUDGET

Total revenues for 2024 decreased by 20% from 2023. Total expenses decreased by 18%, with a significant decrease in human resources costs (we kept hiring to a bare minimum in 2024 given the uncertainty of project funding until the autumn), whereas operating expenses remained stable, and travel costs were reduced by 30%.

Operating expenses will be further reduced in 2025, as in September 2024 the Centre for the Prevention of Radicalization Leading to Violence (CPRMV) moved into our offices and now share 50% of the rent and office expenses with the ICPC.

The audited Financial Statements for 2024 are available upon request.

FINANCES

2024 was another extremely challenging year for the ICPC in terms of financing, which finally concluded on a positive note with the confirmation of three multi-year agreements with the provincial and federal governments. Until September however, we were obliged to run the Centre on a shoestring in the absence of confirmation of this funding.

Negotiations with the MSP Quebec for a second three-year agreement for the Laboratory on Urban Safety, funding that has given the Centre a certain stability since 2021, were concluded with a signed agreement in September for CAD 200,000 per financial year. Another two-year agreement with MSP Quebec was signed in November for CAD 100,000 per financial year (2024/2025 and 2025/2026), in the form of a grant to support projects in major urban centres aimed at contributing to the prevention of gun and gang-related violence, financed by the Fonds pour bâtir des communautés plus sécuritaires (FBCS).

The agreement with the City of Montréal for their contribution to the Urban Safety Lab, using the funding model introduced in 2023 that gives the ICPC a bank of hours to be used for specific mandates received from our partner, was renewed for a second year in April 2024.

FINANCES (SUITE)

Whilst we appreciate the ongoing support of the City, this model has continued to render financial planning more challenging in the past, as under 50% of the $100,000 agreement was used by the end of our financial year.

Finally, at the very end of the year, we received notification that our application for a three-year grant from the federal government for a project on safety in public transport in the five largest urban centres in Canada was approved. Work on this project will begin in early 2025.

The absence of core funding for 2024 has had a major impact our ability to fund activities that were not project based. This, combined with the fact that we were unable to work on activities within the multi-year agreements reached in the fall for the 2024-2025 financial year, and therefore can only account for a minimal revenue for these projects in 2024, has led to our financial statements showing a deficit of $96,019.

A total of 271,771$ of project revenues was deferred to 2025 for work that is ongoing; thus, we intend to make up for some of this deficit in 2025 with much of the year dedicated to the long-term projects signed in late 2024.

On a more positive note, we continued to benefit from diverse sources of funding for our activities including the final year of the 2022-2025 agreement with the Government of Quebec for the prevention of sexual exploitation project, and numerous smaller projects with the City of Montréal and several Quebec municipalities.
